A vibrant, close-up photograph of a lit sparkler. The central point of ignition is a bright, glowing white-yellow sphere, from which hundreds of thin, golden-orange sparks radiate outwards in all directions. The sparks vary in length and intensity, some appearing as long, thin lines and others as smaller, starburst-like points. The background is a deep, dark black, which makes the bright sparks stand out prominently. The overall effect is one of dynamic energy and celebration.
